SOME REASONS FOR SEXTING

Research by Dr. Susannah Stern, Associate Professor at University of San Diego finds that youth are practicing to be part of adult culture. "That is a culture of sexualization and of putting yourself out there to validate who you are and that you matter."

Sexting is an extension of how people express themselves sexually now. Because it's new, we have not developed ethical codes around it. It is important to establish that there are consequences to exploiting a private photo that someone sends you.

Incidents of non-consensual distribution of intimate images and non-consensual sexting dove tail with increased use of technology and the escalating risk-taking behaviour, has created a new class of vulnerable persons that require the Court's protection. This law came into effect on March 9, 2015 and makes transmitting intimate images of a person without their knowledge or consent a crime and punishable up to five years in jail.
